

Andgar's 2019 Berry Box Cutter

What if your repacking facility could keep fresh fruit flowing by automatically opening and dumping IQF berry boxes? Meet the market's first custom built solution, designed and built by the experts in berry processing at Andgar.

Run by a single operator, boxes glide along conveyor belts as they are automatically opened and their contents de-clumped and removed.

Workers won't have to spend hours each day performing back-breaking labor every day while your facility benefits from a more consistent product flow.

The Andgar Advantage

- Only automatic box cutter on the market for berries
- Reduces labor and labor liability
- Handles multiple box sizes
- Service available 24/7
